DETAILED ACTION

1. This is the fourth office action for application serial number 10/049,897. This application contains 12 pending claims numbered 1-3, 6-7, 9 and 13-18.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3, 6-7, 9 and 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is rejected as being inconsistent between the language in the preamble and certain portions in the body of the claims, thereby making the scope of the claims unclear. Applicant is required to clarify what the claim is intended to be drawn to i.e., either a carrier mount alone or the combination of the carrier mount and the frame member, and the language of the claim be consistent with the intent. In formulating a rejection on the merits, the examiner is considering that the claim is drawn to the combination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-3, 6-7, 9 and 13-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,267,679 to Kamaya et al.

Regarding claims 1, 6, 7, 9 and 18, Kamaya et al. discloses a carrier mount (See Figs. 1E, 1D or 1A, for example) comprising a pouch (1) having an elongated mouth opening through which an object may be introduced into the interior of the pouch, the opening being narrow relative to the major faces of the pouch; securing arrangement including a collar (12, 20, 27) being expandable and contractible; the collar being formed of a split collar (27) having two parts opposed to one another each with a curved surface and having means for selectively altering diameter of the collar, and a closure means for closing the opening wherein the closure means comprises a zipper closure (21).

Kamaya et al. lacks teaching of the collar being provided as a spring. However to have made a collar being as a spring would have been deemed obvious over Kamaya et al. because it was obvious that the collar can be made with a variety of known different materials that can be working such as a spring. Moreover, to have made the collar being as a spring would also have been considered an obvious matter of design choice as long as it is suitable for the intended use and the choice to be made whether working as a spring or not does not change the function of the structure.

Kamaya et al. also lacks teaching a frame member of an exercise machine where the collar designed to be located around the frame member for securing the pouch in close proximity to the frame member.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the collar of Kamaya et al. clasp or loop around the frame member for the desirable purpose of simply hanging or suspending the pouch to the frame member since the collar of Kamaya et al. can be hung, suspended or fastened to any frame member and capable of locating around the frame member for securing the pouch in close proximity to the frame member.

Regarding claims 2-3, Kamaya et al. also discloses the pouch comprising a flexible material and at least a portion of the exterior of the pouch comprises a water resistant material.

Regarding claims 13-14, Kamaya et al. also discloses the collar being adjustable and tightenable about the object to be tightening and comprising a rigid and a flexible element.

Regarding claim 15, Kayama et al. discloses the collar portion being positioned adjacent a wall of the pouch; and the collar being a quick release fastening element.

Regarding claims 16-17, Kamaya et al. further discloses the pouch having opposed side panels defining major faces and a relative shallow depth; and the opening for receiving the device is provided along the upper most edge of the pouch, and the upper most edge of the pouch being substantially arcuate.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 10/12/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has further amended independent claims 1 and 18 and pointed to alleged distinctions between the prior art and their invention based upon amendment introduced into the claims. However, these independent claims and along with other dependent claims still stand reject as pointed out in the office action.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
